W 000	INITIAL COMMENTS A recertification survey was conducted from September 11, 2007 thru September 14, 2007. The survey was initiated using the full survey process. A random sample of four clients was selected from a resident population of seven women with various disabilities. The findings of the survey were based on observations, interviews with clients and staff in the home and at three day programs, interviews with one client's guardian, as well as a review of client and administrative records, including incident reports. The client's psychological assessment reflected that "due to cognitive deficits consistent with severe mental retardation... does not evidence the decision-making capacity... in granting, refusing and/or withdrawing consent to medical treatment..." On September 13, 2007, at approximately 9:15 AM, review of the client's gynecology records revealed that she was administered Ativan 2 mg at 12:15 on March 15, 2007 and Ativan 3 mg at 11:30 AM on May 17, 2007 for sedation. The client's records, however, revealed no evidence that her aunt was informed of the need for sedation for gyn evaluations and/or had granted consent for the use of Ativan on either of the two aforementioned appointments. Further review of the gynecology records revealed that even with sedation, the client had been uncooperative. To date, doctors were unable to perform the pap smear, as ordered by the primary care physician. The gynecologist recommended evaluation under full anesthesia. At 10:00 AM, the QMRP did not answer directly the question on whether the client's aunt had been informed of the difficulties in performing a pap smear and/or the gynecologist's recommendation for anesthesia. Instead, she stated that the primary care physician (PCP) was not in favor of using anesthesia due to the inherent risks posed by the client's Downs syndrome. The PCP reportedly was preparing a letter stating that because the client had past pap smears with normal results ("negative") and was not sexually active, he no longer was recommending a pap smear. To date,	W 124	In the future the nursing staff will obtain consent from each individual's family or legal guardian before using sedation for medical appointments. The Human Rights Committee will also review using sedation. client #3 GYN exam will be scheduled to get PAP Smear done under mild sedation. Consent will be obtained for this procedure.	10/31/07

W 124	Continued From page 2 the letter had not been finalized. At 10:39 AM, a message was left on the aunt's home telephone; however, the call was not returned. No additional information was made available before the end of the survey the next day. There was no documented evidence that Client #3's designated health care decision-maker (aunt) had been apprised of the client's ongoing gynecological assessment needs. It should be noted that the client's record failed to show evidence of any pap smears performed in the past with "negative" or "normal" results/ findings. 2. During the September 11, 2007 Entrance Conference, at approximately 4:45 PM, the QMRP indicated that Client #4 had a court-appointed guardian. The QMRP further stated that the facility maintained frequent contact with the guardian and she was kept informed of the client's treatment issues. Review of the client's Individual Support Plan (ISP), dated May 31, 2007, and court documents confirmed this. a. On September 14, 2007, at 12:56 PM, review of the client's records revealed a consent form that was signed by the guardian on August 31, 2007. The guardian authorized the use of medications in addition to the client's behavior support plan. Review of the medications listed, however, revealed that Geodon was still listed as a current medication. The client's physician's orders, however, reflected orders dated August 27, 2007 that discontinued the Geodon and started Thorazine 200 mg twice daily. When asked, the QMRP could not confirm that the guardian was aware of the recent change in medications. She also acknowledged that the	W 124	The nursing staff will notify the designated health care decision maker about change of medication orders including medication ordered by the physician. Client #4's medication administration records (MARs) indicated that on June 19, 2007, the client began receiving Lamisil for treatment of toe nail fungus. Review of the client's records failed to show evidence that the guardian had been made aware of the fungal condition and/or treatment needs. On September 14, 2007, at approximately 1:05 PM, the QMRP acknowledged that she could not confirm that the potential risks posed by Lamisil treatment had been explained to the client's guardian. At 1:20 PM, a message was left on the guardian's answering service. The call was returned (post-survey) and on September 19, 2007, at 3:22 PM, the guardian stated that she was not aware that the client had foot fungus or that she had begun receiving Lamisil in June. (Client #4) The findings include: On September 14, 2007, at approximately 11:22 AM, review of Client #4's behavior (ABC) data sheets revealed two staff entries that documented the withholding of the client's food and/or threats to do so, as a consequence for not following staff instructions, as follows: - "9/6/07 <client's name> asked me for a banana and I told her she couldn't have it. She ran and stole the banana off the refrigerator. I told her no snack for tomorrow because she doesn't listen." - 9/7/07 <client's name> ran out of the house because she didn't want to listen to staff. She cussed out staff and ran out the door." Under C, for "consequence" the staff wrote "no snack." The exact time of occurrence was not documented on either of the aforementioned entries. At 11:23 AM, review of Client #4's behavior support plan (BSP), dated August 26, 2007, revealed proactive strategies outlined to prevent maladaptive behaviors from occurring. Once a behavior occurs, the approved interventions listed became progressively more restrictive, as follows: tell the client "to stop... provide verbal redirection... touch control, safety zone... not seclusion... business-like manner, emergencies... block a blow... CMS policies and procedures are to be followed for any situations not covered in this plan..." The BSP did not authorize making verbal threats of withholding food as a	W 151

She said this would not be appropriate. Food was only held "if the client has a medical appointment, otherwise, no." Documentation of recent staff in-service training records revealed that the Program Director had presented training on June 28, 2007 for all agency staff. The agenda indicated that topics had included "discipline of residents... preventive techniques for handling aggressive behavior... nutrition... and human rights." The House Manager further indicated that agency policies regarding those subjects had been reviewed at the time. The Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) arrived in the facility shortly after 12:00 noon. She was asked (1) whether clients' snacks are considered part of their overall dietary/ nutritional intake, and (2) whether CMS policies forbid withholding snacks as a means of addressing client behavior. She stated that snacks were indeed a part of their dietary intake "not an extra" and she did not know whether the facility had a written policy that expressly prohibited withholding of food. However, she stated that "it's nothing that I would allow... withholding food." She replied "no" when asked if any of her staff ever threatened to withhold a client's snack as a consequence for behavior. After reviewing the staff entries of September 6 and 7, 2007, she said this raised several questions. Client #4 reportedly did not receive afternoon snacks because her finger sticks, scheduled to be performed before dinner, precluded after snacks. At the time, she was living in a hospital. While in the hospital, the client, who was diabetic, received finger sticks three times daily ("am, 12noon and at bedtime") to monitor her blood glucose levels. She was admitted to the ICF/MR on April 26, 2007. The primary care physician assessed the client on April 27, 2007 and entered handwritten treatment orders in the client's residential record. Interviews and record review revealed that the day program had not received a copy of the April 27, 2007 orders. The first physician's orders sent to the day program were for the month of June 2007. Further review of the day program records revealed that Client #4 had received noon finger sticks throughout the month of May 2007. The April 27, 2007 orders, however, only called for finger sticks twice daily, "before breakfast and before dinner" in the home. Direct observation, therefore, could not be performed. On September 13, 2007, at approximately 10:18 AM, the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) was asked about Client #3's day program. She stated that she was "working with" the current day program to "develop a new program" for her. While the day program reportedly were "doing job readiness," the client was engaged in frequent community outings and it was unclear to the interdisciplinary team whether the was acquiring work skills. She then proceeded to write her first and last names, which she achieved correctly and with no assistance from staff. At approximately 12:42 PM, she and staff began playing Connect Four. Review of her day program plan, beginning at 12:57 PM, revealed the following goals: (1) "... will verbalize her complete address and telephone number" (2) "will pass out snacks among her peers..." and, (3) "...will engage in an activity with a peer of her choice..." She had a behavior support plan to address physical aggression, verbal aggression, taking others' food, elopement, non-compliance, psychotic behaviors and anger and frustration. She had started at the day program on April 24, 2007. A July 2007 progress report indicated that she had refused to participate in any programs. Interview with the Behavior Specialist and Director revealed that she had increased participation in August. Further interview revealed that to date, she had not received a comprehensive vocational assessment. On September 14, 2007, at 10:52 AM, review of Client #4's Psychological Evaluation, dated May 25, 2007, revealed that the psychologist had	W 225

When asked about the psychologist's recommendation, the QMRP said Client #4's current day programming was focused mostly on "ironing out her behaviors." She further explained that prior to her admission to the facility in April 2007, the client, who was 48 years old, had stayed home all day, "slept all day, no structure." The QMRP anticipated that the interdisciplinary team would review her vocational needs at an upcoming 6-month review. The QMRP acknowledged that to date, Client #4 had not received a comprehensive vocational assessment to determine her interests, skills and training needs. The Nurse and the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) were asked if any of the clients had a self medication training program. They both indicated that none of the clients participated in a self medication training program. Review of Client #1's self medication assessment on September 13, 2007 revealed several areas that she was not able to perform; however, there were no programs designed to improve the client's skills in those areas. 2. W 322	Continued From page 16 The findings include: 1. During the medication pass observation on September 11, 2007 at 5:30 PM, Client #2 received Goedon 20 mg for behavior. Review of the client's medical assessment dated January 26, 2007 revealed a recommendation for the client to receive an EKG every six months while on Geodon. Review of the physician's orders revealed a corresponding order for the EKG. Further review of the medical record revealed an EKG dated September 21, 2006; however, there was no other EKG documented in the record. Interview with the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional on September 14, 2007, at approximately 2:00 PM, acknowledged that Client #2 had not received an EKG every six months as ordered by the physician. 2. W 338	Continued From page 17 The findings include: On September 12, 2007, at approximately 5:50 PM, review of Client #3's gynecology records revealed that she was administered Ativan for sedation prior to two gynecology appointments (2 mg on March 15, 2007 and 3 mg on May 17, 2007). The client's records, however, revealed no evidence that a physician's order was obtained prior to the use of Ativan for either of the two gynecology exams. Interview with the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional on September 13, 2007, at approximately 10:00 AM, revealed that she was unaware of the physician's orders and the nurse was unavailable that day for interview. It should be noted that Client #3's records indicated that a previous physician's order for Ativan (2 mg prior to a February 5, 2007 CT scan of the spine) had been discontinued on February 19, 2007. The medication was ordered on April 20, 2007. Review of medication administration records (MAR) for Client #2 revealed that the client did not receive the medication 16 days out of the 90 days. The back of the MARs noted that the medication was not available. In an interview with the facility's Registered Nurse on September 19, 2007, at approximately 2:45 PM, she indicated that the medication had not been received from the pharmacy on the days noted on the MAR. There was no explanation given for why the medication was not available for administration. Review of Client #3's medical records on September 12, 2007 at 4:33 PM revealed a Pharmacy Review form. According to the form, the pharmacist reviewed her drug regimen on November 7, 2006, May 11, 2007 and August 10, 2007. Review of the other three sampled clients revealed the pharmacist had reviewed their regimens in February 2007. During a September 17, 2007 telephone interview, the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional indicated that she was previously unaware that the client's regimen had not been reviewed in February. She did, however, state "that sounds familiar" when asked whether the client's chart might not have been available for review on the day the pharmacist came in February because the record was with the client, on a medical appointment. Direct care staff was observed to serve all of the food with a large spoon. Review of the diet orders for Clients #1 and #2 revealed they were prescribed 1500 calorie, low fat, low cholesterol diets. Clients #3 and #4 also were prescribed calorie-restricted, low fat low cholesterol diets. The menu was reviewed and revealed that the clients were to receive 4 oz rosemary ranch chicken kabobs, 1/2 cup pasta, 1/2 cup oven roasted vegetables, 1 slice bread, 1 tsp margarine, cup water and 1/2 cup frozen yogurt. There was no way to determine if the clients received the prescribed portion of the meat and vegetables. Interview with the house manager revealed that the "staff knows how much food to put on the spoon to equal the proper portion of food", however, the observed amount of food on the clients' plates appeared to be much more than the prescribed portions required for their diets. In an interview with the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) on September 14, 2007, at approximately 1:30 PM, stated that the nutritionist indicated that the clients could have seconds of vegetables. At 11:23 AM, review of Resident #4's behavior support plan (BSP), dated August 26, 2007, revealed proactive strategies outlined to prevent maladaptive behaviors from occurring. Once a behavior occurs, the approved interventions listed became progressively more restrictive, as follows: tell the client "to stop... provide verbal redirection... touch control, safety zone... not seclusion... business-like manner, emergencies... block a blow... CMS policies and procedures are to be followed for any situations not covered in this plan..." The BSP did not authorize making verbal threats of withholding food as a consequence for behaviors. At 11:46 AM, the House Manager was asked if agency policies allowed for staff to withhold food or make verbal threats to do so. She said this would not be appropriate. Food was only held "if the client has a medical appointment, otherwise, no." I 048	Continued From page 2 policies forbid withholding snacks as a means of addressing resident behavior. She stated that snacks were indeed a part of their dietary intake "not an extra" and she did not know whether the facility had a written policy that expressly prohibited withholding of food. However, she stated that "it's nothing that I would allow... withholding food." She replied "no" when asked if any of her staff ever threatened to withhold a resident's snack as a consequence for behavior. After reviewing the staff entries of September 6 and 7, 2007, she said this raised several questions. Resident #4 reportedly did not receive afternoon snacks because her finger sticks, scheduled to be performed before dinner, precluded after snacks. The initials were those of a staff who reports for duty in the afternoon. The QMRP acknowledged, however, that the documentation reflected inappropriate behavior intervention technique.	I 048
I 090	3504.1 HOUSEKEEPING The interior and exterior of each GHMRP shall be maintained in a safe, clean, orderly, attractive, and sanitary manner and be free of accumulations of dirt, rubbish, and objectionable odors. This Statute is not met as evidenced by: The findings include: During the environmental inspection conducted on September 14, 2007, at 11:05 AM, the following observations were made: 1. Client #4's room had a strong urine odor. 2. There were black marks on the wall and closet	I 090	1. The tile on the floor from Client #4's room will be removed and replaced. 2. I 090	Continued From page 3 door in Client #4's bedroom. 3. The bathrooms on the second and third floors had caulking around the tubs that was dark in color. The third floor bathroom had a missing tile around the tub. 4. There was a large vent fan in the ceiling on the third floor. The cover of the fan and the fan itself had a thick layer of dust on them. 5. The floor boards leading from the third floor to the second floor had heavy dust. 6. The floor boards throughout the house were dusty. 7. The laundry vent leading to the outside of the house had lint buildup on the outside wall and on the nearby ground.	I 090	3. The caulking around the tubs on the 2nd and 3rd floors will be removed and recaulked. 4. The dust on the ceiling vent fan will be removed and fan will be cleaned. 5. The floor boards leading from the third floor to second floor will be cleaned. 6. All floor boards throughout the home will be cleaned. Staff will be instructed to clean all floor boards monthly to prevent dust build-up. 7. The lint will be removed from the laundry vent leading to the outside wall and nearby ground.	10/19/07 10/19/07 10/19/07 10/19/07 10/19/07
I 430	3521.7(a) HABILITATION AND TRAINING The habilitation and training of residents by the GHMRP shall include, when appropriate, but not be limited to, the following areas: (a) Eating and drinking (including table manners, use of adaptive equipment, and use of appropriate utensils); This Statute is not met as evidenced by: The GHMRP failed to provide training for its residents on proper table manners and the use of eating utensils, as follows: 1. On September 11, 2007, at 5:30 PM, direct care staff was observed bringing the dinner foods to the table. The meal consisted of baked chicken, mixed vegetables, noodles and bread.	I 430	The QMRP will complete a weekly thorough walk-thru inspection of the facility's maintenance and housekeeping. In the future, the QMRP will ensure that the staff complete all housekeeping tasks on the inspection document. The maintenance department will receive a copy of the weekly inspection to make all repairs.	10/19/07 10/19/07

I 430	Continued From page 4 The direct care staff served each resident either a drumstick or a thigh, and scooped up the mixed vegetables in a large serving spoon. The direct care staff then handed the spoon to the resident so that the resident could place the vegetables onto her plate. The staff did the same for the noodles. The residents served themselves double and even triple the amounts of vegetables indicated on the menu. Staff, however, did not intervene or otherwise provide instruction to residents regarding proper portion control. Interview with the Qualified Mental Retardation Professional on September 19, 2007, revealed that the residents had not been taught how to portion out their meal. 2. During the September 11, 2007 dinner observation, at 5:31 PM, Resident #3 was observed using her right thumb to push food onto the fork she held in her left hand. She did this numerous times during the meal yet staff did not intervene or otherwise provide instruction regarding table etiquette. At 5:40 PM, Resident #1 also was observed using her left hand to push food onto her fork. Staff did not instruct the resident or otherwise provide guidance on proper table manners.	I 430	1. The facility will have an in-service training for the residents and staff regarding using eating utensils properly and portion control.	10/15/07

I 479	Continued From page 5 administered, as evidenced by the following: On September 12, 2007, at approximately 5:50 PM, review of Resident #3's gynecology records revealed that she was administered Ativan 2 mg on March 15, 2007 for sedation prior to a gynecology appointment. Subsequent review of the resident's March 2007 MAR revealed no evidence that the administration of Ativan had been documented on the MAR, in accordance with standard nursing practices.	I 479	All medications administered will be documented on the MAR. The primary nurse will review the MAR on a monthly basis to ensure all medications given are documented on the MAR.	10/31/07
I 484	3522.11 MEDICATIONS Each GHMRP shall promptly destroy prescribed medication that is discontinued by the physician or has reached the expiration date, or has a worn, illegible, or missing label. This Statute is not met as evidenced by: The finding includes: On September 14, 2007 at approximately 11:40 AM, a bottle of Ammonium Lactate 12% was observed in Client #4's personal hygiene box. The bottle had a worn label. The Qualified Mental Retardation Professional was present at the time this was discovered.	I 484	Cross reference W391.	10/31/07

I 500	Continued From page 6 The GHMRP failed to ensure residents' rights as evidenced by the following: 1. Cross-refer to I048. There was documented evidence that staff withheld Resident #4's food, or threatened to do so, as a consequence for not following staff instructions. 2. Based on observation, interview and record review, the facility failed to ensure the rights of each resident and/or their legal guardian to be informed of the resident's medical condition, attendant risks of treatment, and the right to refuse treatment, as follows: a. Cross-refer to Federal Deficiency Report - Citation W124.1. Review of Resident #3's gynecology records revealed that she was administered Ativan 2 mg at 12:15 on March 15, 2007 and Ativan 3 mg at 11:30 AM on May 17, 2007 for sedation. The resident's records, however, revealed no evidence that her aunt, who was the designated surrogate health care decision-maker, was informed of the need for sedation for gyn evaluations and/or had granted consent for the use of Ativan on either of the two aforementioned appointments. There was no documented evidence that Resident #3's aunt had been apprised of the resident's ongoing gynecological assessment needs. b. Cross-refer to Federal Deficiency Report - Citation W124.2. Resident #4 had a court-appointed guardian. Review of the resident's physician's orders reflected orders dated August 27, 2007 that discontinued the psychotropic medication Geodon and the start of Thorazine 200 mg twice daily. When asked, the QMRP could not confirm that the guardian was aware of the recent change in medications. She	I 500	Cross reference W151. Cross reference W124. At 1:20 PM, a message was left on the guardian's answering service. The call was returned (post-survey) and on September 19, 2007, at 3:20 PM, the guardian stated that she was not aware that the resident's Geodon was discontinued and Thorazine had been added. c. In addition, Resident #4's medication administration records (MARs) indicated that on June 19, 2007, she began receiving Lamisil for treatment of toe nail fungus. Review of the resident's records failed to show evidence that the guardian had been made aware of the fungal condition and/or treatment needs. On September 14, 2007, at approximately 1:05 PM, the QMRP acknowledged that she could not confirm that the potential risks posed by Lamisil treatment had been explained to the client's guardian. On September 19, 2007, at 3:22 PM, the guardian stated over the telephone that she was not aware that the client had foot fungus or that she had begun receiving Lamisil in June. She could not recall anyone discussing potential side effects associated with taking Lamisil. 3. Also see Federal Deficiency Report - Citations W124, W151, W212 and W225.
